DETAILED ACTION

1. The information disclosure statement for which Applicant request a review, filed 2/26/04, fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1), which requires the following: (1) a list of all patents, publications, applications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office; (2) U.S. patents and U.S. patent application publications listed in a section separately from citations of other documents; (3) the application number of the application in which the information disclosure statement is being submitted on each page of the list; (4) a column that provides a blank space next to each document to be considered, for the examiner's initials; and (5) a heading that clearly indicates that the list is an information disclosure statement. The information disclosure statement has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 14-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bienert et al. (6,506,611). This rejection was made in the previous Office Action (mailed 12/29/06). It remains in effect. Please see Response to Arguments below.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 4/2/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The Examiner notes Applicant's arguments directed to Bienert. Applicant has argued that since Bienert actuates the pins using a downward force, then Bienert does not teach a pin lifting mechanism. The Examiner respectfully disagrees and submits that this argument is beyond the scope of the claim. Applicant has not provided any specific configuration of the pin lifting mechanism that precludes the depression step. In addition, the manner of operating a device does not differentiate apparatus claims from the prior art:

A claim containing a "recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus" if the prior art apparatus teaches all the structural limitations of the claim. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1987). See MPEP 2114 on Functional Language.

5. Applicant has defined the pin lifting mechanism with functional language such as "associated with a different one of said subsets and configured to lift the pins of the subset together relative to the print head". The Examiner submits that this lifting is what the combination of the actuator, springs and pin achieves. The actuator associated with each set of pins contacts the pin set and imparts a force to each pin restoring spring. Upon removal of the downward force provided by the actuator, the tips are moved upward by the springs. When the pins move upward, they are being lifted relative to the printhead by the springs. Since the pins could not move without the actuator – the actuator provides the force to move the pin and the compression force for the springs - the Examiner considers the actuator to be part of a “pin lifting mechanism” that is “configured to lift the pins of the subset together relative to the printhead”. This meets the limitation of claim 14. Instant claims 16 and 17 recite that the pin lifting mechanism “include an electromagnet” or “include a pneumatic actuator”. The Examiner notes that Bienert includes these elements as actuators in their device (column 11, lines 41-43).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
